

A Monster

The stars twinkled like diamonds in the night sky. The cool breeze relaxed my muscles. Our cruise was sailing in the sleeping sea. The surrounding water was very calm. I stood on the balcony facing the enormous oceanic water. The ocean is a strange place after dark. It seemed to be humming its own lullaby. The underwater creatures seemed to be spending a peaceful night. They didn't intend to interrupt the outside world.

Suddenly, I caught a glimpse of something moving quickly out of the corner of my eye. Something large in the deep sea! Something huge and scary. Its body was long. It moved with terrifying power. I couldn't believe my eyes. I had never seen anything like it before. Before I could react, it moved closer to our cruise and its enormous body came into view. Slowly, it stood up from the water. The floor seemed to tremble under me and I knew I was in danger. I gasped at the sight of the giant creature looming over me and felt dizzy. A frightening feeling that something horrible is going to happen enveloped me. It was a sea monster!

The tall towering creature was covered in thick white fur. Its eyes seemed to change colour from blue to green and then red. It looked like a devil from hell. It stood there surveying its surrounding. Then took a deep breath and fixed its eyes on me. It had the face of a bear, with a long snout. I stood there frozen. It raised its huge arm towards me. Its nails were as black as charcoal. I stared at the wild thing standing before me. Its fingers reached me. I was unable to react or respond. It was as slippery as a fish. I was too frightened to shout. My heart prayed to god.

All of a sudden, the monster took its hand away from me. It seemed like there was a change in appetite. The creature turned its head in the opposite direction. It took two huge leaps in the water like a hyperactive cheetah. It was gone in the blink of an eye! I didn't know what had just happened. Finally, I was able to breathe.
